

Angle Conversion

This system converts an angle described as a voltage between 0 and 1 and turns it into an angle in degrees. The rate of change of angle is also calculated.

Use this constant input when the 0 point of the input angle is not the same as the 0 point needed by the rest of the simulink model.
(left leg horizontally forward)

